Summary: The Foundation's funding priorities fall into 3 categories: health, education, and inner-city service. For health, the Foundation prioritizes: grants that emphasize prevention and/or recovery from health problems; grants that enhance the health of needy children by promoting healthy lifestyles; and grants that provide access to medicine and medical procedures for children who require special assistance and would otherwise be denied such assistance. For education, the Foundation prioritizes: grants that encourage educational achievement in areas of documented weakness; grants that promote advanced learning opportunities to gifted children who would otherwise lack the resources necessary to pursue dreams and talents; and grants that expose children to learning opportunities they would otherwise not experience due to insufficient financial resources. For inner-city service, the Foundation prioritizes: grants that provide health and educational programs targeted to low-income children in the inner-city, and grants that strengthen the capacity of operating nonprofit organizations to more effectively meet the needs of low-income children in the inner-city.
